POLICE DEPARTMENT

455 7TH ST., OAKLAND, CA 94607

The Oakland Police Department is pleased to share the 2019 Report on Stop Data with our Oakland community. This report fulfills OPD's yearly requirement to release the prior year's stop-data. OPD continues to be a leader in stop-data collection and exceeds the requirements of California Assembly Bill 953. OPD is proud to be the only department in the State of California who collects Intel Led Stop-Data, which requires officers to clearly explain if the stop being made is associated with any current criminal activity.

Our partnership with the Oakland community is critical to the success of OPD's work to improve the quality of life in our City. Historically, OPD collected stop data and made it available to the public in an effort to be transparent. OPD's commitment to identifying and addressing racial disparities in traffic enforcement has not waived.

The data found in this report reflects our intentional efforts to practice fair and impartial policing. The significant reduction in traffics stops on our Black and Hispanic community members reflects your police department's work on reducing the adverse impact law enforcement contacts can have on our under-represented community members.

OPD has long been a leader in the country collecting and analyzing stop data. Our efforts have focused on reducing the impact of disparity to our vulnerable communities through the use of this data. This use of collected data is one of our efforts to ensure the practice of fair and constitutional policing and the reduction of racial disparity in our enforcement efforts.

Please note that while OPD has routinely collected and analyzed more data than required by AB 953, the Bill created a need for us to change some of our past data collection methods. We will continue to produce, analyze and share data with our community that reflects the focus of OPD's work toward transparency and fairness.
